

PROVIDING A USER-INPUT DEVICE

Abstract of the Disclosure

An improved method and user-input device are provided. The user-input device comprises a housing having a first end and an opposite end. The user-input device
5 further comprises a controller to indicate a position of the first end and the opposite end and to cause one or more pixels of a display device to activate based on the indicated position of at least the first end of the housing.